

High Frequency Words

Sentences: Part 3

Your enthusiasm is contagious.

He gave an enthusiastic presentation.

Let's put your equipment in the work room.

She is especially important to our organization.

Let's establish a new department.

What is the estimate for the damage?

In the divorce, I asked for my dog, my china, my jewelry, et cetera.

Every time we go there, I think of you.

It's time for us to go to work everybody.

Everyone was so nice to us.

I wanted everything I saw in the store.

The evidence is in the closet.

It is quite evident that you don't want to be here.

Let's examine her eyes.

She is the exception to the rule.

Let's look at the next exhibit.

How many exhibits do you intend to introduce?

The exit is this way.

How many exits could you locate?

My experience has been terrific with this organization.

He conducted experiments in the basement.

Explain what you mean by that.

That is my favorite expression.

You will get paid extra for any work you do after five.

I have got to go see my father.

February is the coldest month.

He served time in federal prison.

I figure she will have a breakdown.

He said it should last forever.

Thank God we get paid on Friday.

I have no further questions.

In general, I am satisfied with my job.

The gentleman opened the door for me.

I walked over to the gentlemen.

I had better get going on this project.

It was a good interview.

I always have a hard time saying good-bye.

Be grateful you don't have to do that for a living.

I need to check the guarantee on that.

I loved her handwritten note.

Hasn't she always been in trouble?
I haven't seen snow like this in years.
She is the heir to the throne.
Help is in order here.
I worked at the hospital for seven years.
I told her to wait; however, she was in a hurry and didn't.
We saw at least a hundred people there.
My husband wanted to buy a new car.
Whose idea was it to purchase that?
I would like to see some identification, please.
Can you identify the thief?
She has an imaginary friend.
Your job is a tough one, I imagine.
It's obvious there is an immediate need.
She came to me immediately after the accident.
I filed an incident report.
Will you incorporate the company?
I worked for Reporter's Incorporated.
It has to be an individual decision.
He has professed his innocence.
She claims it's an innocent misrecollection.
We didn't know who to blame in that instance.
Everybody wants instant gratification.
We felt it was insufficient evidence.
Who was slated to investigate the robbery?
I hope this investigation doesn't take long.
Will you involve her in the meeting?
What do you think his involvement will be?
January is the deadline for registration.
I want to be there when they pass judgment.
My birthday is in July.
June is the most popular month for weddings.
I know you will be there for me.
What knowledge do you have of the case?
He wanted grant funding for a new laboratory.
I don't think that's legal in this state.
I know when I have had my limit.